Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Greetings! I think that the proposed final settlement in the Microsoft case fails to address several key anti-competitive practices used by Microsoft to create and sustain their monopoly. These include Microsoft's prohibition against shipping its products in conjunction with publicly available software, Microsoft's prohibition on running applications created with its tools on competing, publicly available operating systems, and Microsoft's per-processor licensing charges to large customers, even when many of these processors are running a competing operating system.

Please reject this settlement in favor of a more comprehensive solution.

Thank you for your consideration.
